9 THE TOWN OF MARIÁNSKÉ LÁZNĚ

Founded in the early 19th century, neo-classical Mariánské Lázně is one of the European finest spa towns which has grown from an inhospitable marshy valley into a beautiful town of verdant parks, spa houses, glories, pavilions and colonnades of abundant architectural styles over the last two centuries.

The heart of the spa is the spa park around which you'll find the colonnade and many neo-classical and Art Nouveau buildings. The park extends up into the surrounding hills and along the valley. The local spa architecture is dominated by houses and villas dating back to the 19th and early 20th centuries.

The perfectly preserved spa houses and hotels, colonnades and pavilions housing the mineral springs give the town a unique appearance. Churches belonging to various denominations hint at its erstwhile international significance and importance as a cosmopolitan European spa town.

UNESCO World Heritage

Mariánské Lázně is one of eleven exceptional spa resorts within seven countries added to UNESCO's world cultural heritage list in 2021 as part of a multi-country nomination called "The Great Spa Towns of Europe".

Cooperation between the spas and a joint effort involving all the towns eventually led to UNESCO recognising the extraordinary value of European spa tradition.

Mineral Springs

The different chemical composition of the town's numerous springs makes it the perfect place to treat a wide variety of ailments. The local springs containing a variety of minerals are the basic resource used in numerous spa treatments available. Around 40 springs in the town itself and 100 springs in the nearby countryside rise up from the ground to heal frequent visitors.

The various mineral springs are now sheltered by pavilions and colonnades which have been built around them over the years and which help create the town's special ambience.

SPRING WATER FROM MARIÁNSKÉ LÁZNĚ IS USED TO CURE:

- Disorders of kidneys and urinary tract
- Respiratory disorders
- Locomotive system disorders
- Metabolic disorders
- Gynaecological disorders, sterility
- Oncological disorders

Singing Fountain

There is a daily program of music played as the fountain springs into life - these performances take place every odd hour from 7 am until 10 pm with the final two performances (9 am & 10 pm) making use of embedded lights. Each year on 30th April at 9 pm, the fountain puts on its first performance to mark a new tourist season. The official close of the season comes on 31st October at 8 pm when the fountain puts on its final end-of-season show.

The fountain is a circular pool, 18m in diameter with a 12-piece stone sculpture of stylized flower forms and a polished steel centre piece in the middle. The fountain is made up of a water jet system that in total contains 330 nozzles, the centre jet being capable of reaching a height of six metres. The whole thing is computerised enabling it to produce a very creative and varied combination of effects which may include coloured lights embedded in the pool. The fountain's ability to perform such dramatic performances was the work of academic architect Pavel Mikšík.
